

"PBS NEWSHOUR" covers new technique that may make solar panel production less expensive

April 24, 2015

New technique may make solar panel production less expensive

Scientists have developed a more efficient method of creating the material that makes solar panels work, according to a report published this week, which researchers say could be key to creating clean global energy in the future.

BY Carey Reed January 31, 2015 at 7:30 PM EDT

